CEP monitor system works; silence reigns

The days of wandering in the halls have become shadows of the past since the monitor system has been put into effect. Under the sponsorship of Miss Irene Barnwell, the Citizenship Education Project committee has solicited hall monitors for the school year. Students volunteering are Jan Wilbanks, Bobby King, June Turner, Bernice Lahm, Wela Brown and Pat Holode. "We need more students to participate," said the committee. The monitors are to be selected at both meetings of the board. The thought was further supported by the editorial magazine about a successful project of this type in El Monte, California, which was conducted by the students, even down to their actual labor. It is the only one completed in this manner in the nation.

As of now, one of the greatest dreams that all students have is a peace monitor. By the end of this month, monitors will begin their duties.

Spanish club bears talk on pastor's mission south of the border

The thing that makes the standard of living so low in South America is the mission work. It is the fact that the great middle class is gone, and many people are living in poverty," said Dr. Fred G. Roebuck, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fort Smith, and a recent returnee from a Latin American tour. He pointed out that theinky, "[The average person] doesn't know anything about our economy or our society. It is not in- terest.

New members announced by Key Club

The Key Club is Tom Cotting, vice-president, John Kolt, secretary; and Jimmy Garrett, treasurer. MEMBERS of the board are John Garrett, junior; George O'Neal, junior; and Paul Jorden, senior. The Club was organized in 1935, is an affiliate of Kiwanis Club.

Wallace heads FTA; employer speaks

"Beginning their activities for the year, the Future Tradesmen of America, under the sponsorship of Jack Whitike, have elected officers. They are Benny Wallace, president; Sammy Crigel, vice-president; Carol Canoe, secretary. Jeanette Phillips, treasurer; Barry Smith, editor; and Francis McShan, treasurer.

The GRIZZLY

Volume 31 Fort Smith High School, Fort Smith, Arkansas, October 14, 1954 No. 2

Spanish Club talks on pastor's mission south of the border

The thing that makes the standard of living so low in South America is the mission work. It is the fact that the great middle class is gone, and many people are living in poverty," said Dr. Fred G. Roebuck, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fort Smith, and a recent returnee from a Latin American tour. He pointed out that theinky, "[The average person] doesn't know anything about our economy or our society. It is not interest.

New members announced by Key Club

The Key Club is Tom Cotting, vice-president, John Kolt, secretary; and Jimmy Garrett, treasurer. MEMBERS of the board are John Garrett, junior; George O'Neal, junior; and Paul Jorden, senior. The Club was organized in 1935, is an affiliate of Kiwanis Club.

Wallace heads FTA; employer speaks

"Beginning their activities for the year, the Future Tradesmen of America, under the sponsorship of Jack Whitike, have elected officers. They are Benny Wallace, president; Sammy Crigel, vice-president; Carol Canoe, secretary. Jeanette Phillips, treasurer; Barry Smith, editor; and Francis McShan, treasurer.

The GRIZZLY

Volume 31 Fort Smith High School, Fort Smith, Arkansas, October 14, 1954 No. 2

Spanish Club talks on pastor's mission south of the border

The thing that makes the standard of living so low in South America is the mission work. It is the fact that the great middle class is gone, and many people are living in poverty," said Dr. Fred G. Roebuck, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fort Smith, and a recent returnee from a Latin American tour. He pointed out that theinky, "[The average person] doesn't know anything about our economy or our society. It is not interest.

New members announced by Key Club

The Key Club is Tom Cotting, vice-president, John Kolt, secretary; and Jimmy Garrett, treasurer. MEMBERS of the board are John Garrett, junior; George O'Neal, junior; and Paul Jorden, senior. The Club was organized in 1935, is an affiliate of Kiwanis Club.

Wallace heads FTA; employer speaks

"Beginning their activities for the year, the Future Tradesmen of America, under the sponsorship of Jack Whitike, have elected officers. They are Benny Wallace, president; Sammy Crigel, vice-president; Carol Canoe, secretary. Jeanette Phillips, treasurer; Barry Smith, editor; and Francis McShan, treasurer.

The GRIZZLY

Volume 31 Fort Smith High School, Fort Smith, Arkansas, October 14, 1954 No. 2

Spanish Club talks on pastor's mission south of the border

The thing that makes the standard of living so low in South America is the mission work. It is the fact that the great middle class is gone, and many people are living in poverty," said Dr. Fred G. Roebuck, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fort Smith, and a recent returnee from a Latin American tour. He pointed out that theinky, "[The average person] doesn't know anything about our economy or our society. It is not interest.

New members announced by Key Club

The Key Club is Tom Cotting, vice-president, John Kolt, secretary; and Jimmy Garrett, treasurer. MEMBERS of the board are John Garrett, junior; George O'Neal, junior; and Paul Jorden, senior. The Club was organized in 1935, is an affiliate of Kiwanis Club.

Wallace heads FTA; employer speaks

"Beginning their activities for the year, the Future Tradesmen of America, under the sponsorship of Jack Whitike, have elected officers. They are Benny Wallace, president; Sammy Crigel, vice-president; Carol Canoe, secretary. Jeanette Phillips, treasurer; Barry Smith, editor; and Francis McShan, treasurer.

The GRIZZLY

Volume 31 Fort Smith High School, Fort Smith, Arkansas, October 14, 1954 No. 2

Spanish Club talks on pastor's mission south of the border

The thing that makes the standard of living so low in South America is the mission work. It is the fact that the great middle class is gone, and many people are living in poverty," said Dr. Fred G. Roebuck, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fort Smith, and a recent returnee from a Latin American tour. He pointed out that theinky, "[The average person] doesn't know anything about our economy or our society. It is not interest.

New members announced by Key Club

The Key Club is Tom Cotting, vice-president, John Kolt, secretary; and Jimmy Garrett, treasurer. MEMBERS of the board are John Garrett, junior; George O'Neal, junior; and Paul Jorden, senior. The Club was organized in 1935, is an affiliate of Kiwanis Club.

Wallace heads FTA; employer speaks

"Beginning their activities for the year, the Future Tradesmen of America, under the sponsorship of Jack Whitike, have elected officers. They are Benny Wallace, president; Sammy Crigel, vice-president; Carol Canoe, secretary. Jeanette Phillips, treasurer; Barry Smith, editor; and Francis McShan, treasurer.

The GRIZZLY

Volume 31 Fort Smith High School, Fort Smith, Arkansas, October 14, 1954 No. 2

Spanish Club talks on pastor's mission south of the border

The thing that makes the standard of living so low in South America is the mission work. It is the fact that the great middle class is gone, and many people are living in poverty," said Dr. Fred G. Roebuck, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Fort Smith, and a recent returnee from a Latin American tour. He pointed out that theinky, "[The average person] doesn't know anything about our economy or our society. It is not interest.

New members announced by Key Club

The Key Club is Tom Cotting, vice-president, John Kolt, secretary; and Jimmy Garrett, treasurer. MEMBERS of the board are John Garrett, junior; George O'Neal, junior; and Paul Jorden, senior. The Club was organized in 1935, is an affiliate of Kiwanis Club.

Wallace heads FTA; employer speaks

"Beginning their activities for the year, the Future Tradesmen of America, under the sponsorship of Jack Whitike, have elected officers. They are Benny Wallace, president; Sammy Crigel, vice-president; Carol Canoe, secretary. Jeanette Phillips, treasurer; Barry Smith, editor; and Francis McShan, treasurer.

The GRIZZLY