FTAS gives program for PTA meeting

TEACHERS for Tomorrow was the theme of the program presented by the Future Teachers of America last Monday at the banquet preceding the FSU Parent-Teacher Association.

One of the highlights of the evening was a skit entitled "Me A Teacher," performed by Miss Ann Russell, Wenda Sue Johnson, Carolyn Boll, and Olivia Denham. Part of the program was a radio program given by Mary Beth Bish, Pam Smith, Pat Harper, Mary Nelle Overman, Mary Jo Pliska, Kay Bannister, Ray and Linda and Carolyn Balas.

ONE of the most outstanding honors which can be given to a teacher of foreign languages in public high schools has been awarded Miss Wilma Jinsen, Spanish and English instructor.

Miss Jinsen received a letter of recognition for "outstanding contribution to the field of foreign language by the Modern Language Association of America. This organization asked for nominations from teachers who have made the greatest contribution in the field of foreign languages in high schools. Nominations were submitted to the Bulletin on a ballot with the November-December Bulletin.

SINCE 1929 Miss Jinsen has been on the FSU staff, teaching Spanish and Latin. She is active in school, church and community activities. She is a member of the Pan-American Club and Delta Kappa Gamma.

Miss Jinsen was one of the three Arkansas teachers to receive this honor.

Classo-Romance to give French-Romanstyle show

PlANS for a two-story addition to the junior high school have been approved at the school board meeting April 11. Construction is expected to get under way this summer so that facilities will be ready for the 1956-57 school year.

About one-half of the $1,000,000 bond issue voted on several weeks ago and a $100,000 Dallas loan will help finance the project.

The addition will be erected east of the present building and connect with the old building by an enclosed area on the upper floor.

The exterior will be similar in design and appearance to the present building and will accommodate about 2,000 students.

The new classrooms will be used for social studies, physical education, art, music and business education.

Griffe wins $1,000 Lion oil scholarship award

WHEN CAROL GRIFFEE, FSUS senior and Grizzly editor, walked across the stage to receive a $1,000 Lion Oil scholarship award, yesterday she was the second FSUS student awarded a Lion Oil Company scholarship. The second FSUS student to receive the scholarship will be announced next week.

Carol, a member of the Grizzly editor was awarded a $300 per year scholarship.

March 22 in a special assembly, the Lion Oil Company also presented Miss Pressen with a $500 per year Lion Oil scholarship award. This year the award was presented to Miss Pressen for her work in the yearbook. She was awarded a $500 per year scholarship.

Commenting on her award, Carol explained, "At 16 I began working on the yearbook. Since then I have been an editor on the school newspaper. I have been awarded a scholarship from the City of St. Charles, Missouri, my first year, the $1,000 will go toward my education at the University of Missouri. I want to continue my study in journalism."

In her essay Carol said, "If I am anything good in school, it stands to reason that I will be an after-school drug. That is why I feel it is so vital to try to live up to my full potential at the moment, no matter what I'm doing.

"The person who cares is the person who looks good, reads good books, and does good work. It is the person who cares who looks good, and cares and will have the full experience of living."

Carol received a $1,000 scholarship from the Zone A major in English. The award was given to her as the first student in the district.
